

Will & Dana

Hello...

To Someone Special,

We cannot convey how appreciative we are for the gift you are bringing into this world. We are so excited to have another person join our family! We as a couple met later in life, and even though we have been blessed with two children, we have struggled to expand our family to reflect the amount of love we have to give. After experiencing several miscarriages, including a heartbreaking one in the second trimester, doctors advised that the risks to mom and baby's health were not worth pursuing any longer. However, our hopes and dreams of having a third baby are as strong as ever. So, thank you for allowing us to write this chapter of our lives with a beautiful ending!

With love,

Dana and Will

...and welcome
