

Jessica

Hello !

Hello, I'm Jessica. I'm so grateful to be considered by you. I have immense appreciation and respect for you, even without having met you. Your child has already experienced your courage, selflessness, and love as you are considering all options to ensure they will have the best life possible.

I hope I generate positive emotions in you as you consider my profile. I feel like my heart is bursting with love to give a child, and I cannot wait to share it! The chance to become a mother is the fulfillment of a dream of mine. My friends and family are so excited and happy for me to become a mother because they, too, have boundless love to share.

About Me

My friends would describe me as a passionate, hardworking woman with a huge heart who is not afraid to live life. I celebrate special occasions by having my friends and family over for barbecues. My favorite holiday is Thanksgiving because gratitude is key to happiness. Every year I throw a huge Thanksgiving party and feed around 100 people. I invite all my friends, employees, customers, and anyone else who has helped me and who I want to say "thank you" to. It's my favorite event of the year.

Thanksgiving 2023

I love listening to music and being outdoors, especially on the water and in the air! I am a certified flight instructor, and I recently earned my master's degree in business. I have worked hard over the past 10 years to build my own aviation company so I can enjoy the personal flexibility and freedom to pursue motherhood, the ultimate adventure! I am ready to take a step back from flying now to spend time creating a nurturing, loving home in which to raise a child. I am so excited to begin this journey!

I have always wanted to help people, and I try to find ways to do that almost every day. I am grateful for my blessings, and I try to spread love and positivity wherever I can.

I enjoy being active in my community by volunteering, working in the children's ministry at my church, and helping with an aviation-themed youth outreach ministry.

Mentoring is another passion of mine. I work with young women who are pursuing a career in aviation. I find it so rewarding to help others.

I love...

sushi & italian
sailing & traveling swimming & basketball
history & theater
Thanksgiving

When I was in high school, I was on the swim team, and I have always loved being in the water. I enjoy watching college basketball. Go Duke! My favorite foods are Italian in the wintertime and sushi in the summertime. I love to sail, and I used to live on my own sailboat when I was younger. I never get tired of reading and learning new things. I also enjoy traveling and exploring new places I haven't visited before.

What I do

I started my own flight school 10 years ago in North Carolina. I am passionate about aviation and I love to share this passion with others. Training the next generation of pilots is so rewarding! My flight school has grown and become a successful business. I have a team of 18 employees running things now, which is so great to watch. Three years ago I expanded to Coastal Georgia where I quickly fell in love with the community. After just a few months, I decided to relocate and purchase a home.

Why Adoption?

I've wanted to be a mother for years, and I was waiting for the right partner. But then I realized that becoming a single mother allows me the opportunity to give a child 100% of my love and attention.

Even though I will be a single mom, at least for now, I am definitely not alone. One of my best friends (who is a mother of 2) lives right around the corner from me, and we spend time together at least once a week. She has been a wealth of knowledge, giving me valuable insights into motherhood.

I have many friends I have met through a small women's Bible study group I attend, most of whom are my age and also mothers. My whole church family is incredibly supportive of my dream to adopt. When I began sharing my decision with my friends and family, I received overwhelming love, encouragement, and support.

I attempted to conceive a child with donor sperm, but after multiple fertility treatments, I was unsuccessful. I've never had such a strong and joyous feeling that I'm doing what I was meant to do now that I'm pursuing a child through adoption.

Snuggling my friend's baby, Taylor.

Shadow

I love my young dog, Shadow, and I take her almost everywhere I go. She is very sweet and loving but also playful. She is super affectionate and great with kids. She will be a perfect companion for your child.

Even though she is only 9 lbs., she has a BIG personality and loves to go places and meet new people.

BIRTHDAY!

Everyone loves it when I bring her to the office. We enjoy walking together in the village and by the water.

Shadow is quite smart and learns new things quickly. For example, I trained her to ring a call bell when she needs to go outside. She knows many commands and is always eager to perform for a treat.

My Home & Community

I live in Coastal Georgia in a three-bedroom townhouse in a small, gated neighborhood. My home is very safe and secure and is in a tight-knit, Southern community with lots of families with children. What drew me to this area was the warmth and kindness of the people here.

Every Saturday there's a farmers' market at the waterfront park in the village. It's so much fun to shop from local artists, bakeries, and farmers. I never go home empty-handed. I LOVE to support local businesses and eat locally-grown food. Shadow likes to go with me and walk around with all the people and new sights and smells. She does really well, even when it's crowded.

Coastal Georgia

The weather here is warm and sunny for most of the year, making it an ideal place for outdoor activities and soaking up the sun on the beautiful beaches.

One of my favorite things about living on the Georgia coast is nearly year-round access to the beach. It is most enjoyable in the fall, when it's not too hot and not too crowded.

There is a slower pace of life here, which allows for a very laid-back lifestyle. There is less traffic and noise than in a bigger city. Living here provides a better quality of life for me and a future child.

There are so many beautiful places to visit nearby, including other islands outside of the one on which I live. I look forward to exploring so many different places with a child.

My Family

I grew up in a small town in North Carolina. My family mainly consists of my parents and younger brother. My father has four siblings, so I also have many uncles, aunts, and cousins in North Carolina and Georgia who I visit throughout the year.

My brother is six years younger than I am, and he has been married for eight years. He works with my father in the family business that my grandfather began over 50 years ago. They are commercial landscape contractors, and they take a lot of pride in their work. They make homes and commercial properties look beautiful with their landscape designs, including stonework, plants, and water features.

Most of my family is in the same area in North Carolina, so I make trips often to visit, especially to celebrate birthdays and holidays. Every Christmas my dad makes fudge from scratch, and we bake some of my grandmother's recipes like cheese straws. Everyone loves our Christmas treats! My parents were thrilled to hear about my decision to adopt and can't wait to welcome their first grandchild.

My best friend is also part of my family. She has been like an older sister to me for 15 years. I have watched her children grow up and experienced many of their milestones alongside her. She is incredibly supportive and encouraging of my adoption journey and will be a valuable resource and support system to me as I navigate motherhood.

My Friend, Jessica

Jessica and I have been friends for 9 years. She is one of those friends who is always there when you need her; always willing to go the extra mile to help.

I have a special needs child and Jessica has always been very involved with him. I think Jessica will make a great mother. I have no doubt she will provide a nurturing and caring home for a child.

Daniel

My Daughter, Jessica

I admit that I am a bit prejudice as Jessica's father. Jessica is a warm and compassionate person who always gives 110% in everything she does.

She loves children and would make a wonderful mother. In her free time, she is always going to schools and events to talk to kids about her career. She truly enjoys spending time with her friends' children and not just her friends.

Jessica has lots of unconditional love to give a child. I know she will teach a child to love everyone as well.

She has had much success in her life and accomplished many of her goals. But her real dream is to become a mother.

Tim, hopeful Grandpa

Looking Forward...

I am so excited to experience all the ways my life will change once I become a mother. Every decision I make will be based on how your child will be affected.

I will do my very best to make all the right choices, to protect and nurture your child. I cannot promise I won't make any mistakes, but I can promise that I will learn from them and always work on becoming a better mother.

I have an incredible support system of women in my church who are my friends and who I can call on when I need help.

I will continue to learn as your child grows, and I will continue to improve. I am completely committed to being the best mother I can be.

I can't wait for...

dirty diapers
baby laughs
sleepless nights
snuggles

just being a Mom

Thank you!

I am in awe of your strength and will pray for your peace and continued strength as you navigate making decisions for the future of you and your child.

If your heart leads you to choose me, I promise you that I will dedicate my life to your child's wellbeing. Your child will grow up in a safe, warm, loving environment where they will thrive and grow into a healthy, well-educated, compassionate person.

Thank you for considering entrusting me with this incredible opportunity. I wish you peace and comfort always.
